

---

ANNE-LAURE DALIBARD, Sorbonne Université

Recent advances in fluid boundary layer theory

In the past few years, theoretical progress has been made in several directions in the understanding of fluid boundary layers: well-posedness and ill-posedness results for the time-dependent Prandtl equation and its variants, separation in time-dependent and stationary settings... In this talk, I will make a review of these results, and I will present some potential next steps.